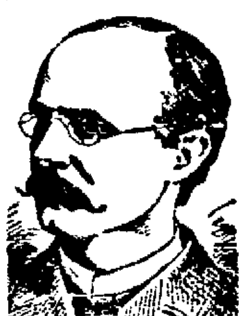
REPUBLICAN CLUBS.

Second Day's Transactions of the National Convention.

THE ELECTION OF OFFICERS.

President John M. Thurston Succeeded by John S. Clarkson—Secretary Humphreys Re-Elected—The Resolutions Adopted—Parade and Reception.



JOHN M. THURSTON.

CINCINNATI, April 23.—The delegates to the convention of Republican clubs were slow in assembling yesterday, and it was 11 o'clock when President John M. Thurston called the meeting to order. After a neat little speech, he said that a number of communications had been received from eminent members of the party who were unable to be present, and would be read by Mr. Barnes, of New York.

The first letter was from the Hon. W. M. Evarts, of New York, who wrote congratulating the convention on its auspicious gathering. Letters followed from President Harrison, Hon. John Sherman, Gen. Russell A. Alger, Hon. Charles Foster, secretary of the treasury; Hon. Redfield Proctor, secretary of war; Hon. Ellis H. Roberts, of New York; Congressman Boutelle and several others.

While Mr. Barnes was reading the letters the boxes containing the tin plate souvenirs made at ex-Congressman Niedringhause's factory in St. Louis were brought on the stage. The convention cheered loudly and many sprang forward to get them, and the reading of the letters was interrupted.

On motion it was decided that the Missouri delegates should distribute the souvenirs, of which there were about 1,500. The souvenirs were labeled "American Tin-Plate, 1891. Made by the Manufacturers of Granite Ironware, St. Louis Stamping Company."

A long dispatch of several pages from Gen. Clarkson, dated Boston, was then read. It was a strong Republican document, demanding mainly the protection of industries, condemning the aggregation of capital when it oppresses the poor, and demanding the same security for the poor negro on the banks of the Yazoo as the millionaire on the Hudson. Clarkson's letter was a succinct, eloquent presentation of issues which will be prominent in 1892.

The report of the credentials committee. There was a minority report against allowing chairmen of delegations to cast votes for absent members. This was carried.

The report of the credentials committee was then adopted.

The committee on resolutions reported.

The first paragraph eulogizes Gen. Sherman, Admiral Porter and Secretary Windom.

President Harrison's administration is endorsed as wise, statesmanlike and patriotic, worthy the admiration of the country, while his attitude toward alien residents is just, and commands the admiration of the world.

Speaker Reed's course is heartily endorsed. The protective tariff idea is, of course, endorsed, as is reciprocal trade, which will not interfere with protection.

Liberal pensions for soldiers and sailors are commended.

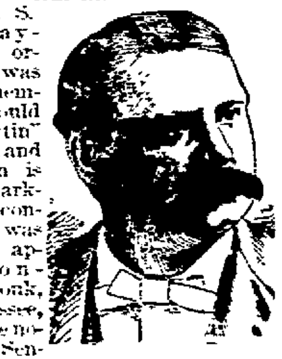
On the subject of the admission of foreigners is the following: "Recent events have made more apparent than ever before the necessity for exercising the sovereign right inherent in our nation, as in all others, to use discrimination in the admission of foreigners as residents in this country. We therefore recommend such changes in our laws as will effectually prohibit the immigration of paupers and criminals."

The Federal election law was indorsed and the Republican press of the country was referred to as a powerful factor in disseminating Republican ideas and doctrines.

Gen. Drake, of Iowa, presented the report of the league work, which advised that the work of the league should be carried even into the school districts of all doubtful states, and that there shall be state and deputy organizers.

There was a rather oratorical breeze over the appointment of a committee to investigate the proposed incorporation of the league. There was some misunderstanding and also some doubt, if it was necessary to have an incorporation, but the motion carried.

Election of officers came next. Judge Powers, of Vermont, nominated for president J. S. Clarkson, saying that an organizer was needed, a member who could raise the "tin" if necessary, and such a man is John S. Clarkson. The convention was wild with applause. Congressman Houk, of Tennessee, seconded the nomination. Senator Matthews, of Illinois, nominated President Tracy, of the state league. However it was generally understood that Tracy would be withdrawn, and that Clarkson would be made unanimous.



J. S. CLARKSON

Chairman Thurston took the floor and said it was a critical time in the history of the league; that it could only be made a success by electing Clarkson. He eulogized the Iowa organizer as also a young man. He referred to Clarkson's defense of the league before the unfriendly National committee.

Senator Matthews then withdrew Tracy's name, and Clarkson was unanimously chosen with enthusiasm.

President Thurston made a farewell speech, and W. W. Tracy was made president pro tem, owing to Clarkson's absence.

For secretary A. B. Humphreys, of New York, the present secretary; John J. Chester, of Ohio, and Theodore Staub, of Philadelphia, were named. Humphreys was elected on the first ballot.

Last night a reception was given the visiting delegates at the armory.

The parade to the armory was greatly interfered with by a drenching rain.

FIRE FIEND.

Thousands of Dollars' Worth of Property Destroyed by Flames.

ROME, N. Y., April 23.—Fire destroyed J. B. Wiggins & Son's brick block, 231 and 233 West Dominick street, yesterday. The second and third floors were occupied by Wiggins & Son's furniture store; the ground floor by E. & H. Barnard, harness dealers, and the basement by J. M. Sturtevant, restaurant.

The adjoining block, owned by Mrs. George Dickerson; the Farmers' hotel, and the Pritchard block were also burned. Loss about $100,000; insurance, $50,000.

A Blaze in Chicago.

CHICAGO, April 23.—Shortly after 2 o'clock yesterday afternoon fire started in the top floor of the Borden block, 199 Randolph street, occupied by O. L. Wullweber & Company, furniture dealers. After a half hour's hard fight the blaze was brought under control, having been confined in the main to the top floor of the building in which it started. The building was damaged to the extent of $20,000. Wullweber estimates his loss at $30,000; fully insured.

Michael Semple, a workman, who was in the building, attempted to leave by the fire escape and was severely burned.

Fire Raging in Denver, Col.

DENVER, April 23.—A terrible fire is raging in the establishment of Davis & Cresswell, on Blake street. They are the largest manufacturers of machinery in the west. The fire is spreading to Robinson's stereotype foundry and The Republican job office. The loss will be very large.

Court House Damaged.

SANDUSKY, O., April 23.—Fire broke out in the dome of the court house here and the structure was damaged to the extent of $25,000. The fire is supposed to have caught from a gas jet used to illuminate a town clock. The building is insured for $40,000.

DESTITUTION IN NORTH DAKOTA.

Unauthorized Agents Collecting Money for Their Own Use.

BUFFALO, April 23.—A few weeks ago two strangers, apparently farmers, arrived here and registered at the Merchants' Exchange as A. A. Paine and Christopher Rott, of Ellendale, N. Dak. They told the members of the exchange that the people of North Dakota were suffering intensely for food, clothing and money, owing to the complete failure of the crops, and pleaded for assistance. They exhibited a letter from Judge Gresham, of Chicago, saying that the money was needed for the suffering people, and stating that $1,500 had been raised in Chicago to relieve the distress.

A snug sum of money was raised for them and they were sent to the mayor's office for more. The mayor was asked for $500 from the relief fund, which was gathered for the Johnston sufferers. The mayor grew suspicious and wrote to Governor Burke, of North Dakota, for a true statement on the subject before turning over the money. An answer was received to-day showing conclusively that the farmers were not authorized to collect money.

The governor, in a lengthy document, says: "There are no doubt some cases of worty charithy in McIntosh county, but as neither the county nor state have as yet exhausted their resources in supplying the wants of the people I am of the opinion that the authorities would prefer to use all efforts within their power before asking for outside aid."

A letter was received from the governor of South Dakota stating that the people there did not need help.

MADE A CONNECTION.

A Lineman Roasted to Death by Electricity.

DENVER, April 23.—Charles Sweasey, a lineman in the employ of the Colorado Telephone company, met with a horrible death in this city last night. He was repairing telephone wires on top of a very high pole on the corner of Curtis and Twenty-eighth street. Lower down on the same pole were some electric light wires.

His footing on the pole slipped and he fell, but still kept hold of the telephone wire, his feet touching the electric light wire which sent the current through his body, killing him instantly, it is supposed. He was found an hour and a half after he was seen to climb the pole lying across the electric light wire, the telephone wire in his hand, and his flesh smoking and burning. Deceased was unmarried and resided in this city.

BARON FAVA ARRIVES AT ROME.

And Has a Prolonged Conference With the Italian Premier.

ROME, April 23.—Baron Fava, the Italian minister at Washington, who recently left that city on leave of absence, arrived Wednesday. Immediately after the baron's arrival, he had a prolonged conference with the Marquis Di Rudini upon the various aspects of the New Orleans affair. The outcome of this conference, if it is to have any definite result, has not transpired.

IN THE COKE REGION

The Situation Growing More Critical Daily.

SOCIALISTS ON THE SCENE.

Labor Meetings Being Held at a Number of Places and Serious Trouble Feared. Rioting Near Uniontown and Two Women Reported Killed.

SCOTTDALE, Pa., April 23.—The situation in the coke region has not materially changed. At the Leisenring plant of the Frick Company, the 150 Pinkertons are doing duty, and more than two carloads of the 500 Punxsutaway Italians have arrived.

The McClure people at the Painter plant reported still more men at work. Superintendent Brennen is at the plant daily, and is priding himself on being able to operate the works so far without the aid of a deputy of armed officers. He generally stands well with his men, and it is not thought that any harm will come to his works out of personal feeling. Over seventy-five of the families there will be evicted Friday.

The Socialstic end of the striking miners commenced a series of meetings here yesterday. Two prominent Socialists from New York are here to do the talking and it is feared harm may come to the community from their talk.

Over 3,500 strikers marched here yesterday afternoon and then listened to addresses of their leaders. The meeting was held at the lower end of town and the civil authorities offered no resistance. Red ribbons were worn by many, but contrary to expectation the red flag was not to be seen.

Alex. Jonas, the noted Socialist, was the first speaker. He said if the newspapers were to be believed their mission was to invoke riot and bloodshed. He spoke at length in German and English. Pointing to the stars and stripes, he said: "Under that flag John Brown was hung; Parsons and others in Chicago assassinated, and your brothers at Morewood murdered. I choose the red flag because it represents the pure blood that flows in the veins of honest workingmen. It represents purity and honor. Under the stars and stripes black slavery was abolished, and the red flag simply means that it must be abolished."

Delaber, the Socialist leader, next spoke admonishing the men to stay out till May 1, when the great eight-hour movement would be inaugurated. He said instead of the 500 Italians arriving in the coke region yesterday much money had arrived.

Many other labor leaders also spoke. A blackleg who was found in the crowd narrowly escaped with his life.

Rioting at Adelaide.

UNIONTOWN, Pa., April 23.—A second riot occurred at Adelaide at 4 o'clock yesterday afternoon. A Hungarian girl was shot during the riot by her lover in mistake and is reported dead. During the second eviction of a Hungarian family who had went back into their house, the sheriff and the deputies were attacked by a mob. One of the Hungarians drew a revolver and threatened to shoot the sheriff. Deputy Crawford started to take the revolver from the man. Immediately two shots were fired, one of which hit the Hungarian's sweetheart who got between her lover and the deputy, in the breast. Another shot fired cut the sheriff's thumb. The girl was carried into an adjoining house and shortly after was reported dead.

Another woman was shot and it is believed that she cannot live. Company C arrived about this time and the mob dispersed. The strikers afterward swore out a warrant for Deputy Crawford's arrest, but he waived the arrest to take three prisoners to jail. The deputy says the Hungarians tried to shoot Sheriff McCormick.

BASE BALL.

The League Championship Race Begun all Along the Line.

CINCINNATI, April 23.—The opening game for the National League championship here yesterday was won by the Cleveland club. A heavy shower delayed the hour about twenty minutes. The features of the game were the excellent playing of Smith and Davis. Davis made a wonderful one-hand running catch. McFee, Marr and Davis did excellent work at the bat. Slattery did not arrive as was expected, and Pitcher Foreman played left while Holliday took Slattery's place in center. The attendance was 4,003. The score was:

Cincinnati......	0	0	0	0	0	0	1	0	2—3
Cleveland......	3	0	0	0	3	0	0	0	*—6

Batteries—Young and Zimmer, Mullane and Harrington.

In Pittsburg.

PITTSBURG, April 23.—Six thousand people witnessed the opening game of the season yesterday between Chicago and Pittsburg. The weather was threatening and a heavy shower before play commenced settled the dust. Galvin occupied the box for Pittsburg, and was not hit hard at critical points, although his support was not of the best, the errors of Reilly and Cargoll each costing a run. Luby, for Chicago, was a puzzler up to the seventh inning, when four bases on balls, together with two hits and an error, six runs were scored. Hutchinson was then substituted by Chicago, and this ended Pittsburg's run-getting. Chicago tied the score in the ninth inning by a single by Foster and a double by Ryan, and won the game in the tenth by a beautiful three-bagger by Dahlen and a single of Carroll's. The score was:

Pittsburg..	0	0	0	0	0	0	6	0	0	*— 6
Chicago....	1	1	0	2	0	0	1	0	1	1— 7

Batteries—Galvin and Mack; Luby, Hutchinson and Kittridge. Umpire—Powers.

In New York.

NEW YORK, April 23.—Seventeen thousand three hundred and thirty-five persons saw yesterday's opening game of base ball at the Polo grounds, the largest crowd that ever witnessed an opening game in this city. The game was between the New York and Boston teams, the latter winning through a muff by Gore in the ninth inning. There were the usual decorations, music and general hilarity. The score was:

New York	1	0	1	0	0	0	0	0	1—3
Boston........	1	0	0	1	0	0	0	0	2—4

Batteries—Rusie and Buckley; Clarkson and Bennett. Umpire—Lynch.

In Philadelphia.

PHILADELPHIA, April 23.—The local League base ball season opened auspiciously yesterday so far as the attendance was concerned, but the game itself was nothing to brag of. Before the game, the clubs, preceded by a military band, made the usual field parade, and each was given a cordial reception. Attendance 8,000.

The score was:

Brooklyn.....	0	0	0	0	0	1	2	2	2—11

GAMBIAS' OLD KING

To Be Taught a Lesson He'll Not Soon Forget by the British.

LONDON, April 23.—Advices received here from Bathurst, the capital of Gambia, the British West African colony, seem to show that Great Britain has another "little war" upon her hands. The native King of Gambia, it appears, has for some time past been in a somewhat disturbed condition of mind, and has been, consequently, committing or allowing to be committed a number of depredations and abuses, from which the British colonists were the sufferers.

The British administrator, or governor of Gambia, Mr. Gilbert Thomas Carter, C. M. G., put up with the king's conduct as long as possible, and finally the administrator sent an envoy in the person of a prominent English official up the Gambia river to the town which the native king makes his headquarters. This envoy was charged with the mission of informing the King of Gambia that he must behave himself and see that his subjects behaved themselves in future or else he might expect a visit of a disciplinary nature from the marine forces of the Queen of England.

The envoy faithfully carried out his orders and communicated the administrator's views to the king. The latter however, does not seem to have been at all alarmed by the administrator's threats, for he ordered the English envoy to be seized and bound, which was promptly done. The king then gave instructions to the effect that the unfortunate envoy was to be sent back to Bathurst in a manner which would be a warning to all other English envoys who might venture up the Gambia river.

Thereupon by the king's directions, portions of the envoy's cheeks and portions of his thighs were cut out by the king's bodyguard, and later on the envoy and the pieces of flesh cut from his body were sent back to the administrator at Bathurst. With the envoy and the pieces of flesh the king sent Mr. Carter the following terse message:

"This is the king's answer."

The British administrator has taken prompt steps to send the king a suitable reply.

Three British gunboats have already ascended the Gambia river to avenge the outrage upon the envoy.

An Insane Woman's Deed.

PITTSFIELD, Mass., April 23.—Mrs. John Shaw, of Barkerville, wife of a mill hand, waded into a mill pond yesterday afternoon, drowned her babe and then regained the shore herself uninjured. Her mind is said to be unbalanced and at times hysterical. She declined to make any statement regarding her action.

OHIO LEGISLATURE.

Proceedings of Both Branches of the General Assembly.

MINORS BARRED FROM SALOONS.

The Senate Passes Holliday's Bill After Being Amended—The Appropriation Bill Also Passes That Body—Transactions of the House—Other State News.

COLUMBUS, O., April 23.—The house passed Senator Ryan's bill providing that cases in the supreme court, involving the construction of the statutes relative to the annexation of territory to municipalities, shall be taken up out of their order. The bill is general, but was introduced to cover the case arising out of the annexation of Maumee City to Toledo.

The bill providing for the division of the National grant to agricultural colleges between the Ohio State and Wilberforce university came up in the house, and Green, of Cuyahoga, took up all the time until recess in an argument in support of the bill.

In the afternoon the house passed the bill to accept $15,000 from the government for the college after it had been so amended as to exclude Wilberforce university. During the discussion there was a lively scene in the house because Representative Hunt failed to recognize Mr. Griffin's demand for a division on the reconsideration of the vote on Alexander's dog tax bill. The chair ordered the [illegible] and Mr. Griffin, backed by other Republicans, claimed [illegible] had been violated, and officers could not enforce order under such circumstances.

Several Democrats poured oil on the troubled waters, and the matter was dropped. Senator Kerr's bill to abolish boards of infirmary directors in all counties except those having large cities, was discussed in the senate and defeated. Mr. Kerr claimed it cost the state about $200,000 to maintain infirmary boards, and this money could be saved.

The senate considered the Holiday house bill to prevent persons under the age of 18 years from entering saloons. It was amended so as to make it unlawful for any minor under 21 years of age to enter a saloon except on lawful business or when accompanied by a parent or guardian. It makes it unlawful also for any saloon keeper to knowingly permit any minor to remain in his saloon. A violation of the act is punishable by fine and imprisonment. The vote stood 19 yeas to 10 nays.

The senate agreed to the report of the conference committee on the Alexander bill amending the law taxing dogs. It provides that all dogs may be listed at $100 or more, and are held to be property. On those not listed as property the owner is required to pay a per capita tax; and when not paid, anyone may kill the dog. The house several days ago refused to adopt the report.

The senate then recessed, and in the afternoon took up the appropriation bill and passed it after considerable discussion. The effort to have the appropriation of $10,000 for the epileptic asylum at Gallipolis stricken out, was defeated.

Attempted Abduction.

CARROLLTON, O., April 23.—Two unknown men attempted to abduct or murder Miss Ida Morrison at the hotel Vanhorn. Miss Morrison started for her room and on reaching the second floor she found all the lights out. While passing down the corridor in the west end she was caught from the rear and an attempt was made to grasp her by the throat but she tore loose and screamed, and one of her assailants exclaimed "Damn it, why don't you shoot her?" She ran to the office and fainted away. She is an orphan, but has rich relatives in Boston, Mass.

His Wife Was Bent on Murder.

SPRINGFIELD, O., April 23.—A sensational scene occured Tuesday night at the anniversary celebration of the Bushnell guards. The wife of Lieut. William Stafford caught her husband flirting with another woman and she drew a knife to send her rival heavenwards. Stafford interfered and knocked Mrs. Stafford senseless with his fist before the crowd. Both Stafford and his wife were arrested.

O. N. G. Troubles Settled.

COLUMBUS, April 23.—The governor and adjutant general have reached a decision in the First regiment troubles at Cincinnati. Maj. Brenner is suspended for six months and Capt. Becht is simply reprimanded and restored to the command of his company. The report further submits a lecture on courtesy and common civility due officers and men to each other at headquarters.

Bitten by a Black Snake.

PORTSMOUTH, O., April 23. — Wirt Allen, the 2-year-old child of Oscar Allen, had a frightful experience with a huge black snake, two feet ten inches long. The child accidently fell upon it, it became angry and bit the child until rescued by its mother.

Murdered and Thrown Into the River.

FINDLAY, O., April 23. — Adolph Schaufflespeil, 55 years of age, was found in the Blanchard river with his throat cut from ear to ear and a bullet hole through his head. Foul play is suspected, as he had $300 when last seen alive by his friend.

Died of Starvation.

CLEVELAND, April 23.—Julia Toth, 6 years old, and motherless, died at a hospital yesterday from starvation. Her father left her to seek employment, and she was dying when the attention of the authorities was called to her.

Drowned in a Well.

CALDWELL, O., April 23.—John Graham, aged 13 years, fell in a well at his father's residence near this place and was drowned.

Secretary Ryan's Sad Bereavement.

COLUMBUS, O., April 23.—The 5-year-old daughter of Secretary of State Ryan died yesterday with spinal disease.

IN THE GOLDEN STATE.

The President's Train Crosses the Boundary Line of California.

INDIO, Cal., April 23.—The presidential party entered the state of California, at Fort Yuma, at 4:50 o'clock yesterday morning. His excellency was presented with a large quantity of beautiful flowers and fruit. The entire party was asleep at the time, so they did not see the presentation committee.

The trip through Arizona was rather uneventful. The weather was very hot. At Bowie two troops of soldiers and two pieces of artillery saluted him as he passed. At Yuma Indians, soldiers, Mexicans and cowboys gave him a regular frontier welcome. The only sign visible in Yuma reads, "Keno to-night," but the president did not stay to play.

At Flow Well the train was stopped though it was not on the program to halt there. The place consisted of only one house. The station master had covered a field with cinders and with white stones had spelled out the following: "Welcome, Ben, to California." He wanted the president to see it, and having shown it let the train go on.

There were extra guards on the train, for Tuesday night, near Casa Grand, sixty miles from Yuma, a stage coach from Florence was held up by train robbers. The men got away with Wells, Fargo & Company's treasure box, but let the passengers escape. There was no alarm for the president's train, but it was thought best to increase the guard while going through the sand desert.

When the president's party reached Indio it was received by a large and influential delegation, including Governor Markham and staff, ex-Governor Perkins, Senator Felton, Judge Vanvleet, of Sacramento, S. M. White, of Los Angeles, Col. C. F. Crocker, vice president of the Southern Pacific railroad, and Mr. Stump, chairman of the Republican committee.

Governor Markham made an address of welcome on behalf of the people of the state. He assured the president that the citizens of California fully appreciated the efforts he had made in order to visit the coast, but expressed confidence that the distinguished guest and party would feel repaid when they saw the wonderful features so peculiar to the state.

"And sir," he continued, "permit me to say that, though we are hundreds of miles from the National capital and separated from the people of the east and south by what may seem endless plains and impassable mountains, yet we are in close sympathy with them in all National affairs and are exceedingly proud of the position we occupy in the great sisterhood of states over which you have been called to preside."

The governor outlined the features of various sections of the state through which the president would pass on his way northward calling attention to the remarkable development of natural resources of these sections, especially of the southern part of the state, within the past ten years and in closing requested the president to take particular notice of the great lack in California of National public improvements; of the extensive shipping interests of the state and her great coast line almost defenseless and almost without harbors of refuge, except at San Diego and San Francisco, either of which could accommodate the commerce of the world, but located nearly 500 miles apart.

The president made a suitable response, and afterward shook hands with a large number of people. Several Indians, including Chief Cabson, of the India tribes of Indians, who is over 100 years of age. They presented an address to the president, asking for justice and assistance.

The ceremonies too place on the platform of the station and were very interesting.

The governor and party left here in company with the president at 8:50 a. m. for Los Angeles.

At Los Angeles.

LOS ANGELES, Cal., April 23.—The route from Indio northward was up a heavy grade, and three engines drew the train along slowly. The scenery in the valley between San Jacinto and San Bernardino mountains was much admired by the president. Banning, a health resort, gave the president a floral welcome. The Indian children from the mission school near by, loaded the back platform of the car with all sorts of wild flowers, and the white children in the crowd pelted the presidential party with bunches of poppy blooms. The president made a short speech of thanks to the people, and received three cheers and an anvil salute in return.

At Beaumont more flowers were presented to the party, and at Colton, where the train arrived at 12:20 in the afternoon, another floral reception was given. The station building was profusely decorated with flags and the school children of the town waved banners and cheered as the train halted. Reception committees from the towns of Redland, San Bernardino and Colton were also on hand. The president was introduced by Governor Markam and made a few remarks which were loudly applauded. The train left Colton at 12:35 amid the strains of "America" by a brass band.

The presidential party arrived in Los Angeles at 3 p. m. At Colton Mayor Hazard and the Los Angeles reception committee met the party. The Los Angeles station held a good natured, struggling, enthusiastic mass of people when the train rolled in. Cheer followed cheer as the president alighted with Governor Markham and walked through a lane of policemen to a profusely decorated carriage drawn by four horses. Military and civic organizations had been forming along the principal streets, and as the president's carriage passed along, Grand Army posts, military companies, civic societies and carriages containing state and local officers and local committee men fell into line.

The president stood in his carriage, knee deep in flowers. He received a continuous ovation from the station to the city hall, where a grand stand had been erected. The building and stand were profusely decorated with flowers and bunting, and several thousand people were packed in a solid mass around the stand. When the crowd had finished cheering the appearance of the president, Mayor Hazard made an address of welcome, and Governor Markham introduced the chief executive, who made a brief speech, paying tribute to the American flag and American institutions. Postmaster General Wanamaker and Secretary Rusk also spoke and were loudly cheered.

Not Yet Decided.

TALLAHASSEE, Fla., April 23.—The first ballot last night in the Democratic senatorial caucus resulted: Call 54, Speer 40, Bloxham 2. In the next ballot Call received 57, Speer 40, Bloxham 3, Blank 1. In the third ballot Call lost 1 vote, Speer lost 3 and Bloxham 2, while State Senator McKinnie and Secretary of State Crawford, and a warm supporter of Senator Call, each received one vote. One more ballot was taken, which resulted: Call 57, Speer 40, Bloxham 1. The caucus then adjourned.

Municipal Elections in Illinois.

CHICAGO, April 23.—Municipal elections were held all over the state Tuesday. In the majority the issue was license or anti-license, although the subject of local improvements was sometimes raised. In most of the contests party lines were entirely obliterated, and the results show a long list of victories for the anti-license and high-license people, they generally retaining the towns they had, and gaining victories as well.

Explosion of Benzine.

PITTSBURG, April 23.—By an explosion of benzine in the Iron City galvanizing works yesterday afternoon, Charles Arnold, aged 23, was fatally burned and Louis Lenz, aged 21, was seriously burned. Loss to building, $5,000.

Gold Excitement in Maine.

BYRON, Me., April 23.—The channel of Swift river having been changed, gold has been discovered in the old bed. Miners are flocking here in great numbers.

EVERY citizen that fixes up his own property not only adds to his own interests but helps improve the appearance of the city. Now is a good time to better appearances.

THERE is a theory that natural gas has the opposite effect to making a clean town. Let Findlay proceed to disprove the story and sue the villain that started the rumor for damages, even if it is a fact.

GEN'L W. H. GIBSON declines to be a candidate for Department Commander of the Ohio G. A. R. The grand old general, whom the "boys," old and young, admire so much, is evidently content with the admiration he must know the veterans bestow upon him without any of the cares of office.

IT is said to have cost Italy nearly $1000 cable charges on Mr. Blaine's reply to Rudini. It may be doubted if Italy ever gets that much in damages for the summary execution of the New Orleans murderers. Many of these diplomatic controversies are of a similar nature to the thousand dollar lawsuit over the three dollar hog.

IT seems there is an epidemic of Italian crime. Scarcely a day passes but the newspapers are recording some revolting crime in which the Italian and his stilleto appear. Perhaps there are no more of these crimes than usual, but the diplomatic troubles may serve to give them more prominent notice. The accounts have emphasized the fact that a large proportion of Italian immigrants are undesirable citizens.

NOT many public men are more popular than Secretary Foster of the Treasury. Much of this is due to his charming personal qualities and sterling worth, but it is more largely due to his courteous treatment of the press. Mr. Foster never refuses to talk to the newspapers and the reciprocation of his courtesy has done much to extend his fame. There are a good many local cranks who ape great men who might learn a lesson in Foster's example.

THE Minnesota bill that was to put bloomers upon the tights-wearing actresses, concerning which there have been so many comments, failed to become a law. The legislators wisely concluded that a law couldn't well set a standard of modesty and morality and let the bill die. When it comes to bringing such a law to Ohio the cities like Marion do not need it. Our people have worked themselves into a state of modesty that demands fine limbs must be cut off Christmas trees that are used in public entertainments.

THE decision of the council to abolish the City Hall as a place of public meeting and using it for offices and council room instead, meets with a good deal of approval. It deprives the public of what is scarcely less than a necessity, but the demand will find a supply in a better and more attractive place. The rents from the hall have been unprofitable and the change will save more in rents heretofore paid for the offices than has accrued from the use of the hall for public meetings.

Music Hall affords a place for public meetings, conventions and balls, though the inconvenience of changing the floors makes the dancers pay the hall hands as well as fiddlers, and all around it is more expensive, but it is better and there won't be the disposition to impose upon a private institution as there has been upon a city property.

There was a plan on foot last year by able private parties to erect a block containing a public hall that would be a suitable successor to the City Hall, one somewhat in keeping with our growth. Whether this plan is realized or not it is quite probable that demand for a public hall will find a suitable supply.

Shot His Sweetheart.

NEW YORK, April 23.—Max Hunger, a German, aged about 40 years, fatally shot his sweetheart, Martha Magowsky, aged 23, at the home of W. M. Lurell, in Roseville, N. J., where she was employed as a servant, and then shot and killed himself. The couple had recently become estranged because of the man's dissipated habits. To-day Hunger called on the girl and endeavored to obtain forgiveness. The girl, however, remained obdurate and the tragedy followed. Hunger was the son of a prosperous hotel keeper, was well educated and accomplished, being conversant with five languages, and had the appearance of a gentleman.

Will Accept It.

PHILADELPHIA, April 23.—Miss Elizabeth Sherman, who is visiting her sister, Mrs. Thackara, at Rosemont, was surprised Monday when she learned that some of her father's friends were raising a fund of $100,000 for herself and sister, Miss Rachael. Lieut. Thackara said Tuesday that the sisters would accept the fund, because it was given as a token of love for Gen. Sherman.

No Smoke Without Fire.

He—Would you object to my smoking?

She—Certainly not—if you don't object to being fired.—Munsey's Weekly.

MARION CITY COUNCIL.

A Citizen Offers Words of Praise and Encouragement.

They see and feel the magnitude of the work before them. Emerging from a village into a city, brings with it new ways, duties, and conditions unknown to the members of the "old council." And the position as well as powers and duties of the mayor, president of the council, clerk and councilmen, are new to all the old as well as the new members. They are right in trying, first, to ascertain the powers which are conferred upon them by statute, and otherwise, and the relative powers and duties, which they have as committees compared with the committee of the whole and the council. As well as what relation the street and alley committee sustains towards the street commissioner and the powers and duties of each, respectively. It is no small task to ascertain and apply promptly and correctly the parliamentary rules governing such bodies. The city, it is believed, may congratulate itself, that her council is composed of conscientious men, who will perform what they have to do, fearlessly and without jobbery, and without a partisan spirit or motive. They no doubt will ever look to the best interests of the city as a whole and not as individuals; not as wards, but as an undivided city; your correspondent judges this from their meeting and doings last evening. They certainly are patriotic to sacrifice time, business, leisure and withal run the gauntlet of ever active, public opinion, without recompense. The business which they transact for the public, while the rest of us are pursuing our own pleasures and inclinations, is arduous, very often thankless, and attacked frequently by unjust criticisms. It is hoped that there is some honor and dignity conferred upon these public spirited gentlemen, for that is about all the benefit that honest and honorable, faithful public servants receive from this place of preferment. Those, however, who solace themselves with the idea that the laborer is worthy of hire, and that as the public do not compensate them for the work they do for the community, feel no compunctions of conscience like other legislators, in doing this work of jobbery, and are not worthy to sit where no compensation, or an inadequate one is rendered for the services performed; and this brings up the serious question of compensation to our city councilmen for their public services, thus taking away every incentive to dishonesty, and giving every effort to the council to the public weal. There is no question but what with any council, and with the best of councils, the public welfare and interests would be better subserved if a fair compensation was allowed for these services to our public servants. And I believe the day is not far distant when this will be the rule. I see no good reason why our municipal law makers as well as the state legislators, and the county legislators (the commissioners) should not have pay for their services. And in conclusion, let me predict, although, I have not the gift of prophecy, yet for careful, safe, unselfish, and successful business methods, and practices, I believe the present council will be eminently noted.

Nasturtium.

What is brighter and more attractive than a bed or trellis of nasturtiums? If you wish to grow the plants in a bed it is necessary to get the Tom Thumb varieties, that do not grow over a foot high. It always seems to us, however, that the nasturtium's essential beauty lies in its climbing habits, and that the new hybrid dwarf varieties are not as attractive as the vines. If the nasturtium seeds are planted now in a box of sandy loam and set in a sunny window, and transplanted when the ground is settled, they will begin to blossom early in the summer.

If you wish abundance of blossoms you must pick off a great many of the leaves and never allow any flowers to go to seed. A very beautiful variety of flowers can be obtained by planting "scarlet," dark maroon and yellow nasturtiums together. They will not always remain exactly as they were planted, but the variety obtained in specimens blotched and striped with the different shades is very attractive. The leaves and some of the flowers of the nasturtium, mixed with a large proportion of lettuce, make a very acceptable salad.

If you wish to raise the seed vessels for pickles it is better to raise the regular vegetable garden vines for this purpose alone. The seeds of the new ornamental varieties are not any better for pickles, and if the flowers are allowed to drop and the seed vessels mature it exhausts the vines so much that they do not give such an exuberant wealth of bloom as they do when the flowers are picked off as soon as they fade.—New York Tribune.

Quarreled About Property.

WEST STOCKBRIDGE, Mass., April 23.—Just over the New York state line, about seven miles from here, a terrible tragedy occurred yesterday. Henry Parkerson, aged [illegible] years, of Chatham, N. Y., shot Mr. and Mrs. Peter Seilde, killing Mr. Seilde instantly and then shot himself. Trouble has been brewing since the death of Parkerson's wife, who was a sister of Mrs. Seilde, over the division of some property left by Parkerson's wife, who died some time ago. Mrs. Seilde, however, claims that the real cause of the shooting was because Parkerson was jealous, he having tried to induce Mrs. Seilde to elope with him. The murderer will die, but Mrs. Seilde will probably recover.

The Small Boy in Spring.

There is something the matter with the small boy just now. Perhaps that isn't just the phrase to use, because that seems to imply that he is in some way guilty of blame, whereas possibly his present condition may simply be the natural one, which an unkindly civilization has thwarted and kept from being a permanent one, as nature intended. He no longer walks on his feet with his head in the air; he walks on his hands, with his feet swinging clumsily above him. He would walk on his head, if he could. In default of that, he stands there when he is obliged to stand at all. He turns handsprings, he jumps, he flies. He makes another boy subservient unto himself and enthrones himself upon his shoulders. He rigs up a perilous trapeze across the fence tops in the back yard. He plants a long row of inverted bottles in the soft earth and essays an unsteady progress down the line.

The policeman is in despair. The genus common boy he has understood in every salutery of his thought and variety of its manifestation. But this special creation, that is half vertebrate and half invertebrate, part boy and part devil, that cuts pigeon wings under his very nose and flies to a safe distance to jeer at him, this is something he never knew before. At least he thinks he never did. He thinks so every year. He will go on thinking so every year, probably, as surely as the year rolls round and the circus comes again.

The small boy never knows the whole of himself, never gets all there is out of himself until then. The days of his life go along, and there is the school and the play of an ordinary prosaic kind. But when the circus comes he comes into his full inheritance. He realizes for a brief while all that it means to be "a soaring human boy." The circus strikes him in the right place, as he would say. And it strikes him right while he is there. He came into the building in two-legged propriety. He goes out of it wheeling along in hand and foot circles on the ground.—New York Evening Sun.

To Walk Round the World.

Round the world on foot, except where a fast steamer will be needed to bridge continents, is the programme which a French citizen of thirty-four summers has just drawn up. He will try to accomplish the feat within the space of 250 days, walking, at least in Europe, twenty-four leagues per diem. M. Droz, the hero of this adventure, on quitting Paris will turn his face in the direction of Moscow. Traversing Siberia, still on foot, he will take ship on the shores of Kamtschatka for San Francisco, whence he will tramp to New York. Crossing the Atlantic to Havre, he will walk from that town to Paris.

M. Droz was formerly a non-commissioned officer in a cavalry regiment. He is of the middle height, lithe and muscular. He has already several pedestrian performances to his credit, but that which he is about to undertake throws everything of this kind into the shade. He reckons on walking fourteen hours out of twenty-four, keeping the remainder of the day for rest and refreshment.—London Telegraph.

The Storage Battery.

Electricians are regarding with much satisfaction the fact that after exhaustive tests and experiments with the most improved systems of traction the Metropolitan Street Railway company, of Washington, have adopted the storage battery as the motive power on their lines, and a demonstration of its capabilities will be given in the course of a year. In a recent speech at the New York Electric club Mr. C. O. Mailloux said that it was with him a matter of conviction that the storage battery would soon be recognized as the ideal system for cities of a certain size, and he wished to place on record his confirmation of the opinion which an eminent authority had already expressed—that for cities below 500,000 population the storage battery will be the solution of the rapid transit problem on surface roads.—Boston Transcript.

Strange Find of Jewels.

While two young ladies of Gainesville, Ga., were gathering wild flowers near Cox's mill a few days ago, in the loose dirt they found a number of silver Masonic jewels of very fine workmanship, including a square, a plumb, a level, keys, etc. The oldest members of the Masonic fraternity of Gainesville do not remember to have ever heard of the lodge at that place losing any such articles. Judging from the extra quality of these jewels they may have been there a great many years.—Philadelphia Ledger.

The Editor's Share.

A fish hawk pulled a large salmon out of the Elk river one day last week. The fish was too large for the bird to carry off, so leaving it on the sand the bird flew off to a pile of driftwood, and picking up a stick with a sharp and jagged edge returned to where the fish lay and sawed it in two, when it flew away with half of the salmon. The other half was served for our dinner.—Del Norte (Cal.) Record.

A Coughing Suit.

Henry Jones sat in church at Lancaster, Pa., and coughed so continuously that the minister stopped preaching and asked him to go out. Henry now sues for $5,000 damages for injured feelings, and will prove that his cough stopped three minutes after he was out of doors.—Detroit Free Press.

Buying a Wig.

A woman in the comic opera world, who is possessed of a truly great quality of beauty, was receiving the congratulations of some friends on the magnificent wig that she wore in one act of the operetta in which she was appearing. People in professional circles mention these details of makeup, and often an actress will feel as proud if she is told that she has used just the required quantity of rouge to gain a beauteous effect as though she were complimented for fine dramatic fervor.

"Well, now, I'll tell you about that," said the actress, whose wig had occasioned remark. "Last summer I was passing a few weeks at a small town up the Hudson, recuperating from my very trying labors, and one day a young girl came to the door of the little hotel where I was stopping to sell some blueberries. She was by no means a beautiful girl, but I noticed that her hair was a most extraordinary shade of golden yellow. As it was rolled up it looked to me as if there was a great quantity of it, and I asked the girl about it. She said it reached far below her waist. I questioned her to see if she felt any great pride in it, and if it was much admired by her friends.

Her answers showed that she did not appreciate the beauty of it, and that she never got any compliments for it. I asked her to my room, and had her let her hair down. It was without exception the handsomest I ever saw. I immediately asked the girl if she would sell it, and told her I would give her a hundred dollars for it. She jumped at the chance, and we cut it off then and there. It was made into the wig that you admire so. The girl has never regretted its loss, and is now doing her best to raise another growth to sell at the same figure."—New York Sun.

An Uncommon Adventure.

John Baker, a farmer residing near Lawrenceburg, Ind., started to drive to Cincinnati before daybreak the other morning, and on a narrow roadway he came in collision with a stranger in a buggy, and the lighter one was overturned. As the buggy went over the corpse of an adult person tumbled out and Baker took to his heels, frightened half to death, the stranger proving to be a grave robber. He was pursued, however, by the fellow, and under the muzzle of a cocked revolver he was compelled to help right the buggy and restore the corpse to its former position, after which the stranger drove rapidly away. Baker returned to Lawrenceburg and gave the alarm, but the grave robber escaped.—Philadelphia Ledger.

An Unknown Variety.

An unknown variety of aquatic bird was slightly wounded and brought ashore alive by Daniel T. Northup, of Wickford, the other day. The bird is the size of a pigeon, resembling that bird in the formation of its head and beak, with dark green plumage and red eyes. The legs are short, striped light green; the feet disproportionately long, with large white talons. Though not web-footed, it has a substance looking like leather, and formed in the shape of scallops on both sides of each foot. It seems more at home in the water than on land, and since being caught has been fed on fish, drinking both fresh and salt water.—Providence (R. I.) Journal.

At Milledgeville, Ga., the other day, Captain George Caraker, a gentleman of probity and veracity, saw something fall from the clouds and bounce like a ball in his yard. He went out to discover what it could be, and found it a live terrapin, which had evidently descended with the rain from the clouds. This little animal was about an inch and a half in circumference; was a dark green on its back, and striped—something like a king snake—underneath.

General Greely told a St. Louis reporter a few days ago that he presumed, in spite of the nominal transfer of the weather bureau to the agricultural department on July 1, he would still remain in charge until next winter, as there is some technical question about the president's right to appoint the new superintendent until the senate meets.

Her Remarkable Easter Lay.

Mr. William D. Summers, of this city, has a host of friends, a farm in Cecil county, Md., and a sagacious light Brahma hen. The Brahma's master is a close student of the ecclesiastical calendar, and his zeal apparently permeated the hen, for as Easter was fast approaching the conscientious bird sat down and laid a dark brown symmetrically shaped egg that will go on record as the effort of her life. This prize Easter egg is by actual measurement 7¾ inches in its long diameter and 6½ inches in its short diameter.—Philadelphia Press.

Dyspepsia

Makes the lives of many people miserable, and often leads to self-destruction. Distress after eating, sour stomach, sick headache, heartburn, loss of appetite, a faint, "all gone" feeling, bad taste, coated tongue, and irregularity of the bowels, are some of the more common symptoms. Dyspepsia does not get well of itself. It requires careful, persistent attention, and a remedy like Hood's Sarsaparilla, which acts gently, yet surely and efficiently. It tones the stomach and other organs, regulates the digestion, creates a good appetite, and by thus overcoming the local symptoms removes the sympathetic effects of the disease, banishes the headache, and refreshes the tired mind.

Distress After Eating

Sick Headache

"I have been troubled with dyspepsia. I had but little appetite, and what I did eat distressed me, or did me little good. In an hour after eating I would experience a faintness, or tired, all-gone feeling, as though I had not eaten anything. My trouble, I think, was aggravated by my business, which is that of a painter, and from being more or less shut up in a room with fresh paint. Last spring I took Hood's Sarsaparilla—took three bottles. It did me an immense amount of good. It gave me an appetite, and my food relished and satisfied the craving I had previously experienced."

The Wells-Fargo Express Co. had a rather large shipment of iron today. It consisted of thirty-five pieces, weighed 10,125 pounds and the charges were $303.75. The shipment was a transfer here from the C., H. V. and T. and was placed on Erie train 4, and billed to Patterson, N. Y.

G. C. Clement, the confectioner, has opened up his new quarters in the Behner room, opposite the court house, where everything is new, fresh, crisp and neat as a pin, including the stock, fixtures, etc. He has an inviting place and invites his friends, old customers and everybody to call and look through, whether wishing to purchase or not.

Every caution is being taken to avoid accident on the C. and E. and Erie. An order has been issued requiring all employes to stand at least fifteen feet from any track or switch belonging to the company while trains are passing. It is thought that this may decrease the number of accidents that occur. Many other roads are adopting the same plan.

The public schools will observe Arbor Day tomorrow. At the Central building each class of the High school will plant a tree, while the classes of the Grammar schools will hold exercises together as will also the Primary schools. At the East building the four Grammar schools and the four Primary schools will plant trees and have exercises and appropriate observance will be made at the other school buildings.

MAKLEY ON THE STAND

His Version of the Shooting as Told in Court—Dayton Witnesses.

The state closed Wednesday afternoon and rested its case. Joseph P. Dawling, state oil-inspector was the first witness for the defense. He testified to the former unspotted reputation of the deceased. Other witnesses from Dayton, in all about forty, were ex-mayors, sheriffs, members of the board of education, county commissioners, sup't of police, police captain and other prominent men. It was established by the defense that Makley's wife was intensely jealous of him and had repeatedly threatened suicide and had even attempted it.

The defendant, Joseph Makley, took the stand this morning and gave a full account of his life, his first acquaintance with his wife, their subsequent places of residence, his coming here, what took place between them and her suicide as he claims. His statement of the affair is that on the morning of the shooting he and his wife arose about nine o'clock, and came down into the kitchen. It was her daily morning duty to build three fires, two of which he built for her. He said he was going up town, when she insisted on his waiting until she made him a cup of coffee, while he was waiting, the milk man, Joseph Hoffman, came in with the morning milk, and chatted with them both for a few minutes. He testified that they both seemed pleasant and in a good humor. Ten minutes after Hoffman left the room, while Makley was drinking his coffee at the sideboard with his back to her, she fired the shot into her head. Just previous to the shot, he had asked her whether she was going with him back to Dayton, to which question she did not reply, upon which he said he was going back; that his brothers wanted him to go back, and if she did not come with him, he would never have anything to do with her. She replied: "If you leave me, I'll shoot myself." He replied, "Oh! you don't mean that, and you should not talk that way." He turned, and in a moment the report was heard through the house.

Cross-examination failed to weaken his testimony materially, and medical testimony was then introduced to show that from the position of the wound and direction of the ball, it was possible that she could have fired the shot. Court then adjourned for dinner.

COCHRANTON NOTES.

A Barn Burned Together With Four Horses—A Farewell to Rev. Partridge.

Special Correspondent to the Star.]

COCHRANTON, O., April 23.—A barn belonging to Mell Dodds, a son of the ex-commissioner, was burned to the ground about midnight Tuesday, on his farm one mile east of Cochranton. The loss on the building was complete and all the contents were consumed. The list includes four good farm horses which perished in the fire. The blaze was throughout the barn when discovered. The cause is not known. There was $500 insurance on the building.

About one hundred of the friends of Rev. and Mrs. Upton E. Partridge tendered them a farewell reception Wednesday night that was a very happy surprise. Rev. Partridge came to Marion county a short time ago to take unto himself a bride, and having done so this farewell was tendered as a mark of esteem prior to their departure to his charge at Remus, Mich.

John Hochstetter had a horse killed on the C. and E. railway, near DeCliff, on Tuesday.

A GENEROUS DONATION

Eight Hundred and Forty Dollars Given Away by the Lime City Business College.

W. H. Parkinson, of the Lime City Business College, has arranged to present to each church in the city a life scholarship in either the business or shorthand departments of his college. The scholarship is to be presented to the minister of each church and he is to give it to some worthy young lady or gentleman who will enter upon the course of study not later than June 1st, 1891. The price of the scholarship given is $60, amounting in all to $840.

Those ministers who have not yet received scholarships may call for them at the college office.

The Big Four Agency.

A. C. Bowen is still filling the agency of the Big Four road at this place, and it is probable that he will be retained in that position to fill the vancancy occassioned by Henry Poock's peculiar action. The officials are known to consider him a very competent man for the place, and his general acquaintance here makes him desirable. It is thought by employes of the local office that the company had in contemplation the removal of Poock to Anderson, and that Bowen was to succeed to the office.

Mr. Bowen's friends are gratified with the promise he has of securing the position. There is nothing new in Mr. Poock's case and his extreme rashness in leaving so unexpectedly.

Barn Burned.

The barn of Dr. Baker, at Martel, Tully township, burned Monday night, including the physician's driving horse, and contents; aggregating a loss of about $600. The fire occurred about 8 o'clock, but the origin is not known. It was insured in the Ohio Farmers for $500.

Marion Lodge, 402, Knights of Pythias, initiated three candidates in the first and one in the second degree Wednesday night.

Mrs. Henry May, of Bellevue, Ohio, is visiting with his sister, Mrs. H. G. Shumaker.

Hood's Sarsaparilla is on the flood tide of popularity, which position it has reached by its own intrinsic, undoubted merits.

Straw Hats.

MY line of Straw Hats this year I do not claim to be the largest in Marion—I might make a mistake, but you can judge for yourself. I have received only twenty six cases of Straw Hats. These contained something like 3375 Straw Hats and only 183 different styles. You can see every style if you wish. No doubt every store has a larger assortment. Prices range as follows:

Everyday Straw Hats, 5c, 10c, 15c, 20c and 25c.

Men's Fine Hats in Black and White, 25c, 45c and 50c.

Men's Fine Mackinaw Hats, 40c, 45c and 50c.

Men's Extra Fine Hats, 75c, $1, $1 25, $1 50 and $1.70.

Also a new straw—the Spider Web—in Black or White, for $2. This is the finest, lightest and coolest straw Hat you ever saw. Come and see them.

Also a full line of Manillas, etc.

Children's Fine Sunday Hats, 10c, 15c, 20c, 25c, 35c, 40c, 45c, 50c, 60c, 75c and $1 00.

Tailor-made Clothing, &c.

I WISH to call your attention to my extra large line of fine Tailor-made Clothing. These suits are made up from the very best of material only and every garment is guaranteed to be a perfect fit in every respect. Prices range from $12 00 a suit to $25 00.

Everyday Suits from $5 00 up.

A full line of Working Pants from 50c up.

Also a full line of the very finest Pants custom made from $2 50 up to $7 50.

Obituary.

"Mother Cromer" as she was familiarly called, was born in Wurttemberg, Germany, on the 8th day of March, 1805, and died at the home of her daughter at LaFayette, Ind., on the 18th day of April, 1891, aged 86 years, 1 month and 10 days. Her maiden name was Christina Louisa Zehnder, when in 1825 she was united in marriage to John Cromer and five years later emigrated to America, enduring all the hardships of travel incident to those early times and finally settled in Marion county. In this union there were born unto them twelve children, eight sons and four daughers, of whom three sons and the father and husband preceded her to that bourne from whence no traveler ere returns. In 1858 she was again married to Fred'k Wagner, of Delaware, O., but since the death of her second husband she has made her home with her children. In religious belief she was a Lutheran from childhood and a devoted student of the holy scriptures. She was a woman of stern integrity, untiring industry and of more than ordinary physical ability which enabled her to successfully cope with the trials and hardships attending early pioneer life, of which few, if any of the pioneers survive her in the locality in Pleasant township, in which she settled some sixty odd years ago. Her last days were days of suffering which caused her to long for that eternal rest which she so much desired for the past few years, expressing the hope that as she had forgiven all with whom she may possibly have come in conflict, even so hoped she to be forgiven.

Notice.

The book accounts and notes due John Frash's Dry Goods House have been left with C. H. Wilson, at the American express office, where those concerned are requested to call and settle. These matters must be adjusted promptly.
